SHOOT FOR A CURE

Almost every week during the regular hockey season a player (amateur or pro) suffers a serious spinal injury. Most of these injuries occur to the cervical spine of players 16-20 years of age who were playing in supervised games. Shoot For A Cure, established in 2000, is a hockey-focused charity of the Canadian Spinal Research Organization. It is directly focused on and led by the hockey community. Shoot For A Cure seeks to raise funds for spinal cord research, to raise awareness of spinal cord injuries in hockey and to promote prevention of hockey-related spinal cord injuries.

Shoeless Joe's is committed to helping them continue with their research and development towards the ultimate goal of finding a cure and preventing future injuries. A cash portion of every soft drink we sell is generously donated to the Shoot For A Cure campaign.
